Make a Wish
Upon a Cloud
Cloud County Kansas

April 17, 2012

Come with 55Plus to “Make a Wish Upon a Cloud”, Cloud County Kansas that is, more specifically, Concordia. You’ll be amazed at the interesting sights and attractions that are in store for you.

The first stop is the National Orphan Train Museum that tells the history of the orphan train movement. Between 1854 and 1929 an estimated 200,000 orphan, abandoned, homeless children were sent from New York City to rural communities across the country and Canada and was one of the largest social reform, relocation efforts in our nation’s history.

The Brown Grand Theatre built in 1907 is a spectacular example of the golden age of Vaudeville. Restored to its original 1907 splendor, the Brown Grand is an exquisite gem of the prairie theaters that will take you back to another era.

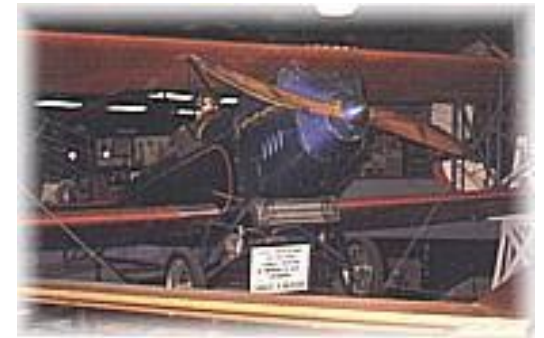

No doubt you’ve worked up an appetite; enjoy a delicious BBQ lunch at Heavy’s BBQ. This afternoon is The Whole Wall Mural which took over a year to sculpt and tells the story of the development of Cloud County from 1887 to the age of the Iron Horse. The mural is over 140-feet long and 15-feet high and contains 64,000 beautifully sculpted bricks. Absolutely amazing.

Also this afternoon, tour the Sisters of St. Joseph Convent and learn the true meaning of service through these women who selflessly provide a future of hope for so many in their community.

Cloud County Historical Museum is a slice of friendly Kansas. From a 1928 Lincoln Page Biplane to a Norman Rockwell collection, this outstanding county museum has it all. Also, visit the remnant of a WWII German POW camp that housed over 4,000 Germans from 1943-45. Then it’s time to head home after a fun day of visiting Concordia, our friendly neighbors to the south.
